Parents, Watch Your Children Please

Summer is just around the corner and that means children will be out of school for the next couple of months. For the safety of your children, parents please warn them not to play in parking lots or around parked cars. For all outdoor activities, please let them know that they should stay on the playground or go to a nearby park for all outdoor playtime. Thank you.

Fun in the Sun?

This spring and summer, homeowners are out mowing their lawns, pruning bushes, planting flowers, cleaning gutters and trying to avoid getting sunburned under the hot summer sun. When they're not outside taking a beating from the heat, they're inside maintaining their air conditioning or paying someone else hundreds of dollars to repair it. All of this and it's back to work on Monday!

Now, isn't our community a cool place to live? You can spend your weekends escaping the heat in our sparkling pool, enjoying the sun on a walk of our professionally landscaped grounds or relaxing in the air conditioned comfort of your home. Leave the work to us and we'll leave the summer fun to you!

Remembering Dad

Wishing all our Father's and Grandfather's the happiest of times. Be sure to make the most of this day and celebrate with your loved ones. For all you do, this DAD's for you. Happy Father's Day.

Simplify Your Life

Celebrate the simple life by making your life a little easier. Instead of wasting your time looking at other communities, save time and money by renewing your lease with us. We'd love to have you stay and we'll simplify the renewal process by filling out your paperwork for you. All you have to do is sign. Call or stop by the office today and re-sign yourself to the good life!

June is Great Outdoors month

Camping the Great Outdoors

Many people don't go camping because they are intimidated by the need to purchase equipment and learn how to use it all. But it is not difficult and shouldn't be a reason to forgo the joys of camping with your family. These tips will help you on your way to enjoying the great outdoors.

Start with the tent.

You should have a good tent, a tarp to place under your tent, and a hammer to get your stakes into the ground. Before heading out on your first camping trip, pitch your tent in your backyard. You might even want to spend the night in it to get you and your family used to it and to work out any kinks with set up and break down. This is particularly helpful for families with smaller children who might be frightened by the idea of sleeping outside. Once your tent is up for the first time, seal each seam with a waterproof sealer to help keep the rain out.

Make your bed.

Get sleeping bags that are rated for the type of weather you will encounter. If you are heading to a higher elevation, be aware that nights can sometimes be downright chilly. If you are camping in a warm locale, you may not need a sleeping bag rated for lower temperatures, which can save you money. If you are uncomfortable sleeping on the ground, invest in a sleep pad or even an air mattress. Don't forget the pillows too.

Prepare for camp cooking.

You don't need fancy equipment to cook a great meal at your campsite. A stove with propane fuel and a few pots will do just fine. You should try out your stove in your backyard before using it at your campsite. Pack cold food in a durable cooler and don't forget the matches. Bring some comforts of home by packing a cutting board, a good knife, aluminum foil, paper towels, a few cooking utensils, a dish pan, and some dish towels.

Don't forget the details.

There are some items you won't want to forget. These include sun-screen and insect repellent, a camp lantern or a couple of flashlights, a first aid kit, trash bags, hand wipes, lots of drinks, and of course, your camera. You may also want to bring a small pad of paper and a pen to jot down things you want to bring on your next trip. Each family packs differently and it may take a couple of trips to really know what you need to bring and what you can leave behind.

Bad Teacher

Cameron Diaz stars in this comedy centered around an 'earthy' non-conventional junior high teacher who, after being dumped by her sugar daddy, begins to woo a colleague, a move that pits her against a well-loved teacher. As a long-time admirer of her comedic, dramatic, and action star status, looking forward to this lighthearted story!

Cars 2

The next chapter in the delightful 2006 animated adventure continues as racing star Lightning McQueen (voiced by Owen Wilson) teams up with his best friend Mater (voiced by Larry the Cable Guy) for an international adventure as they go up against the world's fastest cars. Its great fun for the whole family as the adventure continues.

Green Lantern

The comic book source for this big screen version is my favorite as child in the 60s and admittedly its very high on my list to see! It's the story of a test pilot (Ryan Reynolds) who is granted a mystical green ring that bestows him with otherworldly powers, as well as membership into an intergalactic squadron tasked with keeping peace within the universe.

Super 8

Writer/director J.J. Abrams, who's work on the hit TV show 'Lost' and the recent 'Star Trek' motion picture reboot knows how to present captivating stories. As writer and director, after witnessing a mysterious train crash, a group of young friends in the summer of 1979, begin noticing strange happenings going on in their small town, and begin to investigate the strange phenomenon. Sounds very intriguing...

Transformers: Dark of the Moon

Shia LaBeouf returns in this next chapter as the Autobots learn of a Cybertronian spacecraft hidden on the Moon, and race against the Decepticons to reach it and learn its secrets, which could turn the tide in the Transformers' final battle. The story of humans and machines has taken on a life of its own under the sure hand of director Michael Bay, one of my favorite action themed directors.

X-Men: First Class

It's back to the origins of the hit movie franchise with award winners & nominees in key roles. As we go back in time to the beginning, in 1963, Charles Xavier (James McAvoy) starts up a school and later a team, for humans with superhuman abilities. Among them is Erik Lensherr (Michael Fassbender), his best friend... and future archenemy.
